

PROCESS FOR GENERATING NUCLEAR HEAT

ABSTRACT

A deuterium-fueled heat source that utilizes solid state electrolysis device(s) that deposit D atoms onto, and remove D atoms from, a metal reactor plate containing deuterium diffusion-impeding barriers.